IN MEMORIAM

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of Mr. R. N. Spiggle, who passed away 1 year ago, March 13th, 1959.

God gave me a wonderful husband,
One of the world's very best,
And when on earth his work was done,
God called him home to rest.

God gave me strength to bear it,
And courage to stand the blow,
But what it means to lose him,
None will ever know.

They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps you to forget,
But time so far has only proved
how much
I miss him yet.

Beyond the sunset you have gone,
To rest a little while,
The memory of your loving words,
The kindness of your smile.

You bade none a last farewell,
You said goodbye to none,
Your heart just ceased to beat,
And suddenly you were gone.

We miss you, Daddy, in oh so many ways,
That time can't heal the pain;
Until our own last summons comes,
And we are with you once again.

—Sadly missed by Wife,
Children and Grandchildren.

IN MEMORIAM

To J. Donald Hamilton, who passed away one year ago March 14th.

The year seems so long without him,
Life seems hard to stand,
We miss his kind old voice and the touch
of his gentle hand;
Our memory goes back to childhood, when we
needed tender care,
We had the best attention because Papa was always there.
The last years he was with us in patience he seemed to wait, for GOD to send an angel to open for him the gate.
He was willing at the hour and seemed prepared to go,
where the hardships of life will trouble him no more.
We will never forget our Dear Papa,
we will tread the path he trod,
for it will lead to a city whose foundation and builder is GOD.

His Wife, Fannie B. Hamilton, and Children.

Cooking Tricks

Clever cooks use little tricks to make food jobs quick and easy. For instance, it's nice to know that a little lemon juice sprinkled over fish while cooking will neutralize the fish odor. To remove fish odor from cooking utensils, add two tablespoons ammonia to the dishwater.

To extract juice from an onion, cut a slice from the root end and scrape juice from center with the edge of a teaspoon. To mince onion, peel, cut off a slice, then cut exposed surface into 1-8 inch squares and as deep as needed. Slice thin.

MISS ASHWORTH IS HONORED WITH SHOWER

About The Home

By Frances Dell

Anyone would like to get the most of furnace consumption. The best way to do this is to reduce the demand for heat put upon your furnace. This is very easy to accomplish with good insulation, weatherstripping, storm sash and fireplace dampers.

Much heat is lost through the roof in an uninsulated house. Insulating the floor of unused attic space results in considerable fuel savings. There are a large number of good insulating materials on the market that are easily installed and very inexpensive, considering the heat they save.

Doors and windows are also areas where great losses of heat sometimes occur. In warm sections of the country, a good weatherstripping job, easily done by the man of the house, will be sufficient. However, in the northern sections of the U. S. A., it is best to double up with storm sash. Remember, too, that every fireplace should be fitted with a fireplace damper.

Picture windows should be built with double-walled glass or heavy drapes should be drawn over the large glass areas during the winter months except at those times of the day when the sun is shining directly on the window.

Almost every community has its own climate peculiarities and it is very necessary for people of the community to understand these peculiarities. This knowledge should govern the type of heating equipment they purchase for their homes.

Since heating equipment for a home is expensive and because it is easy for inexperienced persons to waste money and cause themselves untold discomfort by choosing unsuitable equipment for their needs, it is wise to consult more than one heating authority before purchasing the heating system for your home.

COMMENT ON SPORTS

By Pete Fritchle

Washington, D. C.- The Russians piled up a smashing victory margin in the winter Olympic Games held in California. There is no reason to believe they will not add to their laurels in the summer games later in the year.

This is not a surprise and it should stimulate American officials and sports organizations into renewed thought on the amateur sports question. We are not suggesting that amateurs be paid for sports performances but—if we are to get into the picture on an equal with Russian chances—we might have to devise a way for amateurs to be compensated for their costs.

Or there might be some way for our amateurs who have accepted some pay for performed in some events which now bar them from Olympic teams to be included in our future Olympic squads. If out-and-out pros, this would bar participation, but if they are largely amateurs, with minor exceptions, there may be a way to use their talents.

It is not all-important to win the Olympic Games, of course. The United States should not sacrifice the principal of the games to win.

But if there are ways in which our chances could be improved without doing violence to our amateur concepts (which have retarded the advance of tennis, as one example) we should move forward along this line.

The Russians have carried out a massive physical training program and they have concentrated on sports preparation for the Olympic Games to a far greater degree than we have. The results are obvious. They won in 1956 and they are going to win both games this year, unless the summer games are a complete surprise.

For one thing, the Russian women, far excell the U. S. females and they pile up enough points in this field alone to insure victory over the United States.

All of which brings to mind the warning of Admiral Hyman Rickover, who says that our school and college sports programs, featuring teams of stars playing other school teams, is a poor second to a massive program designed to achieve the physical conditioning of every student.

Our schools and colleges could help our Olympic chances with sports programs more in line with Rickover's suggestion.

The fifteenth Annual Achievement Day Program was held at Carver-Price Auditorium.

Clinton Turner, senior 4-H Club president, was master of ceremonies. He was aided by 4-H committee members and fellow officers, Vincent Patterson, vice-president, and Barbara Reed, secretary. The musical selections were by two groups of 4-H members from the Junior and Senior Clubs—under the direction of 4-H Leaders, Mesdames Turner and Hamlet.

Mrs. T. M. Harris, Senior Leader, presented an inspiring talk on "Who Are 4-H Members?" Short Course and Wildlife delegates reporting from their 1959 trip experiences were Mildred Johnson and Gilbert James, Jr.

The awards and recognition of outstanding 4-H Club project members and clubs were ably presented by Carver-Price Principal, R. E. Patrick.

The County Project Medal Winners are as follows:

Achievement: Bobby Hix and Ora Scruggs.
Clothing: Mildred Johnson.
Dairy: Franklin Walker.
Field Crops: Hershel Forbes.
Food Preparation: Barbara Forbes.
Garden: David Humbles.
Home Improvement: Ilean Walker.
Leadership. Gilbert James, Jr., and Mildred Johnson.
Swine: Hershel Forbes.
Tractor: Ernest Humbles, and Charles Ferguson.

Our State Winner this year was Herbert Williams, who is now a sophomore at Hampton Institute. Herbert's Beef Herd project has supported 1-3 of his college expenses to date. The sale of two 1,000-pound steers each fall, is Herbert's biggest project profits realization.

Stonewall 4-H Club received the certificate for its club effort on the 4-H Safety Program.

The program was attended by approximately 250 persons.

The 4-H Council and 4-H Adult leaders and the Farm Agent wish to express sincere thanks to all persons cooperating to make this program successful.

CAMP PICKETT, PRODUCTIVE HUNTING AREA, ALSO OPEN TO PUBLIC FISHING

The public is welcome to hunt as well as hunt on 47,000 acres of Camp Pickett in south-central Virginia, state game commission officials minded fishermen today.

Four lakes: Nottoway, Red Birchen Lake, Tommeheton Lake and Twin Lakes—are open to anglers the year around on the state operative wildlife management area which is located east of Blackstone along Route 40 in Nottoway, Dinwiddie, and, Nottoway Counties.

A free season permit which concurrently with dates on state and county fishing licenses is obtained at post headquarters and can be fished at any time during open hours once permit has been obtained unless troops are present in the vicinity of the lakes. Fishermen must check in at the main gate to obtain access to Birchen Lake, Tommeheton lakes but may use the reservoir and Twin lakes without checking in. They must show identification and a valid fishing license.

Boats are not available for public fishing, but individuals may launch their own boats and lock them with cables if they desire to leave their boats (at their own risk) for any length of time. Boats tied to docks at these facilities must have the owner's name and address of the owner painted on them. Boats may be used only with Coast Guard regulation motors and be operated in a safe manner.

Electric motors only may be used on Twin Lakes, Birchen Lake and Tommeheton Lake. A portion of the reservoir has been zoned for use by a water ski club.

No camping is permitted on the shores of the lakes because of the lack of adequate cooking and sanitary facilities. All areas other than the lakes, waters and roads leading to these areas are strictly off limits and violators will be prosecuted for trespass.

The taking of all species of fish must comply with state regulations. Fish taken most often in the Camp Pickett lakes include large mouth bass, chain pickerel, bluegill and crappie.
